

Inter-American Group Set to Condemn Cuba

By LOUIS DE LA HA BA

WASHINGTON (AP)—An inter-American peace committee report due today or Thursday is reported to condemn Cuba for acts of intervention, human rights violations, and Communist ties.

The Organization of American States report is based on the committee's investigation of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba. The investigation was requested in a resolution introduced by Peru.

Authoritative sources have said the report contains these major points:

1. Citation and condemnation of Cuba for acts of subversion and political intervention. This report is backed by nine examples of political intervention on the part of the Castro government. In each case, sources said, evidence is presented by the government concerned.

2. Condemnation of human rights violations. Six broad categories of these violations are cited, including executions, jailings, deportations, and deprivation of property.

3. Condemnation of Castro's proclaimed ties with the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Latin American experts regard the report as one of the strongest documents ever presented against a country. One diplomatic source said the report is "a serious document that makes no affirmation that is not backed by fact."

The committee chairman is Ambassador Francisco R. Lima of El Salvador, whose government, with other Central American states, plans to seek sanctions against Castro at next week's foreign ministers' conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

The other members of the committee are Colombia, the United States, Uruguay and Venezuela. The committee approved the report unanimously.

The peace committee's report will be one of the basic documents to be laid before the foreign ministers, who will determine if the Castro regime constitutes a menace to the peace of the hemisphere and, if so, what steps are to be taken to meet the problem. The U.S. delegation, to be headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, made plans to leave Saturday night for the foreign ministers' conference, which opens on Monday.

Agencies Short of Pencils

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Several state agencies have reported a paper and pencil shortage.

State Auditor Jimmy Jones said the shortage has developed because of a ruling invalidating state printing supply contracts by Parkin Printing Co.

Chancellor Murray O. Reed held the Parkin contract unconstitutional because company president, Harry W. Parkin, is chairman of the state Highway Commission. The ruling has been appealed to the state Supreme Court.

UN Alarmed at Massacre in Congo

By PETER GROSE

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations displayed concern today over reports of the massacre and mutilation of from 18 to 20 Roman Catholics by bands of Congolese troops and youths at Kungolo, in North Katanga.

Reports received by the U.N. said 20 European priests were killed. Vatican representatives said, however, 17 European priests and a lay brother were the victims.

Neither the United Nations nor the central Congolese government could confirm the report of an African seminarian who fled from Kungolo after the attack. But in passing the account on to Premier Cyrille Adoula the United Nations noted that the story was told under oath in the presence of the Roman Catholic bishop for Kivu Province.

The seminarian said the troops were inflamed against the Roman Catholic priests because they were "poisoning the minds" of young people in the area.

The priests—believed all Belgians—were lashed, the report said, and shot by the troops; their bodies mutilated by the youth groups; then thrown into a nearby river by young seminarians who had been arrested by the soldiers and forced to assist.

No nuns were attacked, according to the report.

The troops involved apparently were the same contingent that massacred 13 Italian U.N. airmen in Kinshasa last November. Normally based in Stanleyville, they were sent by leftist leader Antoine Gizenga to invade North Katanga, and since their rampage in Kinshasa have been considered a disorderly, undisciplined band under no one's control.

Fire in Which 92 Died Set by Boy, 13

CHICAGO (AP)—The state's attorney's office has taken over the investigation of a 13-year-old boy who allegedly confessed he started the fire at Our Lady of the Angels School which killed 92 children and 3 nuns in 1958.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said the boy will be brought into Family Court and a delinquency petition is expected to be filed.

The boy is not under arrest or police guard. No charges have been filed against the youth and authorities have declined to disclose his name.

The boy, now an eighth-grade public pupil in suburban Cicero, was in the fifth grade in the Chicago Roman Catholic school at the time of the fire, Dec. 1, 1958.

Ward declined to disclose the substance of the delinquency petition, saying he did not want to comment on the case because it might prejudice the interests "of the people or the boy."

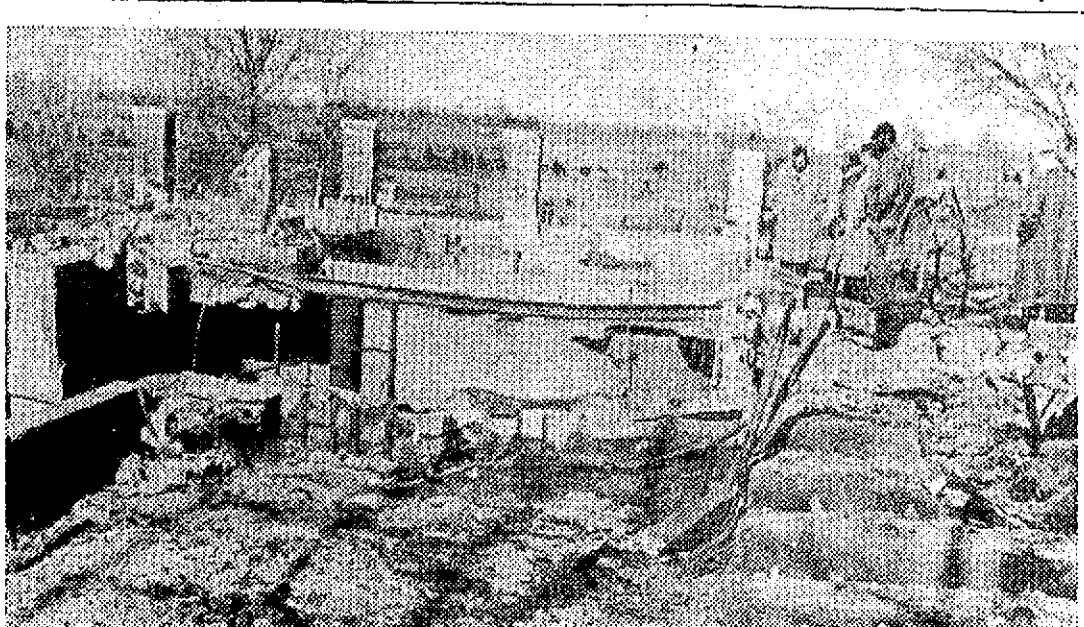

The Chicago Tribune, in a copyright story Tuesday, said the boy admitted setting the school fire to John E. Reid, who runs a lie detection service, last Friday. But neither Reid nor Ward would say whether the boy has made a confession.

Brown Speaker at Kiwanis Meet

Hope Kiwanis Club yesterday heard a brief speech by George Brown of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and then viewed a picture film strip on latest soil conservation practices.

Mr. Brown pointed out that the American farmer today produces food for himself and 26 other persons and by applying best conservation and production methods that food was actually cheaper than ever before.

Emory Thompson arranged the program. George Walls of Memphis was a guest of the club.

WHERE FAMILY DIED — FOUR BRICK pillars and part of a chimney are all that remain of the Paladino family home in Center Ridge, Ark., after it was destroyed by fire. Mr. and Mrs. Paladino and their four children, all aged from three to 12, were burned to death in the fire. The Paladinos were the "Family of the Year" in 1959 in Conway County. — NEA Telephone

Bone-chilling Cold Strikes the Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Subzero cold stung the snow-covered Midwest today and headed eastward toward New England. Freezing weather spread south to Texas and the Gulf Coast area.

Fargo, N.D., recorded a —40 reading at 5 a. m. and the —30 temperature at Bemidji, Minn., tied the record low for the date set in 1943.

The Boston Weather Bureau issued cold wave warnings for northeastern New York and Vermont predicting overnight lows of 5 to 10 below. Below-zero cold also was forecast for Maine and New Hampshire.

The core of the arctic air held an icy grip over North Dakota and Minnesota. Temperatures fell to nearly 40 degrees below zero in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. It was 37 below this morning after a high of —14 Tuesday in the northern Minnesota city.

Freezing weather chilled Southern sections as far as central Texas and eastward through Arkansas, Tennessee, much of North Carolina and in parts of Georgia and Alabama.

The subzero belt stretched across the northern and northern central Plains, the Upper Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region. Some ice-box readings: —30 in Duluth, Minn.; —20 in Minneapolis; —28 in Mankato, N. D.; —26 in Fargo, N.D.; and Alexandria, Minn.; —22 in Bismarck, N.D.; and —16 in Eau Claire, Wis.

No immediate break in the severe cold was indicated. Even colder temperatures were expected in the frigid belt. Cold wave warnings were issued for northern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and western New York. Weather Bureau forecasters said the icy air will hold tight through the Middle Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic states.

Chicago had its second straight morning of subzero weather with the mercury dropping to —5. It was 5 degrees lower in nearby Joliet, Ill.

Temperatures in the South ran from 20 in Crossville, Tenn., 27 in Birmingham, Ala., 29 in Augusta, Ga., Memphis, Tenn., and Asheville, N.C., to 31 in Atlanta. Temperatures dropped into the 30s in parts of northern Florida, mild weather continued in southern sections, with readings in the 60s.

D. R. Newman, 90, Dies Today in Hope Hospital

David Richard (Dick) Newman, aged 90, a retired Saratoga farmer, died today in a local hospital. He was born in Indiana Territory in Oklahoma but had lived most of his life in Hope. He was a Mason, member of the WOW, the Golden Age Club of Hope and the Church of Christ.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Valeria N. Meitz of Battle Creek, Mich., and Mrs. Helen N. Hatch of Hope.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the Saratoga Church of Christ by M. H. Peckles, O. J. Swency and Mr. Paris. Burial by Herndon-Cummins will be in Saratoga Cemetery.

Training Meet for HD Officers

An officers' training meeting for Home Demonstration Club officers will be Jan. 18 at the Garland Elementary School auditorium. The meeting will begin at 1:30 and conclude at 3:15 p. m.

Miss Dorothy Price, district HD Agent, will be present to assist with the meeting. Mrs. Frank King, president of the PTA Council, will be assisting on the program also.

At 1 p. m. just prior to the meeting of the board of directors will have a short business session. Mrs. Ned Purdie, president of the council, will be presiding.

Launius Files for Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—R. W. Launius of Camden filed with the secretary of state today as a candidate for re-election as chancellor in the 7th District, 1st Division.

Launius is seeking a third six-year term.

The district includes Dallas, Ouachita, Calhoun, Lafayette, Columbia and Union counties.

Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra at Prescott

The fabulous Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra will play a concert Tuesday, Jan. 30 at 8 p. m. at the Prescott Gym.

This great band is led by Lee Castle. Lee has been more than just a member of the Dorsey band for many years. He has been considered the "third son" of the Dorsey family. Mother Dorsey has been known to attend Lee's opening almost as often as those of Tommy and Jimmy.

Jimmy Dorsey is credited with putting the juke box industry on its feet. Emphasizing a sweeter style, Jimmy's recordings of "I Hear a Rhapsody," "Amapolita," "Maria Elena," "Green Eyes," and "Besame Mucho," to name a few, are some of the biggest juke box favorites ever recorded.

Tickets for this concert can be obtained from band students or at the door.

Army Staff Shakeup Okay by Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appears willing to accept President Kennedy's plan to streamline the Army's high command.

The reorganization program caused little surprise and no declared opposition when it was announced by the Pentagon Tuesday. Its major provisions were known beforehand to key members of both House and Senate, either of which could kill it by passing a resolution.

The plan—the first major Army reorganization in nine years—involves creation of two new commands under which will be centralized (1) research, (2) development, (3) procurement and (4) other functions now performed by such individual technical services as the Ordnance, Quartermaster Corps.

It does not affect the Army's combat structure or any of the field command organizations.

"The prime purpose of this reorganization is to develop an army with the best possible command structure, management, training, doctrine, weapons, equipment and morale," said Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr.

A House Armed Services Committee member said he had heard of no strong opposition to the scheme and doubted whether any member would even go through the motions of offering a disapproving resolution.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., member of the Senate Armed Services committee, commented that "I am convinced that the proposed changes will give us a better Army—and also the maximum return for the taxpayer's dollar."

The Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., will take over the training of technical manpower, a job it already does for combat personnel.

The Army will also establish an office of personnel operations to exercise central control of all Army assignment and promotions.

Con Man Is Charged in $17,000 Deal

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark. (AP)—Ira Coleman Roberts, 60, of West Memphis, was charged here Tuesday with promoting a confidence game through which two Augusta men reportedly lost $17,500.

Prosecutor Frank Wynne of Fordyce said Roberts promised C. F. Collier and Harry E. Kearney last November that he would trade $25,000 in $1,000 bills for $17,500 in lesser denominations.

The two men turned their money over to Roberts here last Nov. 13, Wynne said, and Roberts left to get the $25,000 but never returned.

According to Wynne, Roberts told Collier and Kearney at Augusta that he knew a man at Lake Village who had accumulated 25 $1,000 bills but was afraid he would be prosecuted for income tax evasion if he tried to spend them.

For that reason, the owner wanted to exchange large bills for smaller denominations that wouldn't be noticed.

The $7,500 profit was to have been split three ways, the prosecutor said.

Wynne said Roberts, who used the alias of John Taylor, was picked out of a police lineup at Little Rock by Collier, an automobile dealer.

Roberts was arrested at Searcy Monday by FBI agents on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for robbery in Illinois. The FBI said he is charged at Searcy, Ill., with taking $17,000 from a man at gunpoint Nov. 29.

Roberts is being held in Pulaski County jail under $10,000 bond.

FBI records listed a number of arrests for Roberts since 1935, but gave disposition of only two cases: A five-year prison sentence in Mississippi in 1938 for grand larceny and five years in the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind., in 1956 for "using sound by way of interstate wire to defraud."

He received a conditional release on the latter charge in 1959.

The FBI also has arrested Carl and Lee Hammond, 39, a Searcy motel operator, on a charge of harboring Roberts to prevent his arrest. Hammond was released on $2,000 bond.

U.S. Calls Change in Dominican a Tragic Setback

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States assailed the new junta government in the Dominican Republic today as a "step backward." Officials said the United States is considering withdrawal of recognition.

State Department informants said they are afraid the new political upheaval at Santo Domingo may mean the beginning of an effort to establish a new military dictatorship.

"We have received reports," a formal U.S. statement said, "that a new government—apparently a predominantly military junta—has assumed power in the Dominican Republic. This development would appear to be a step backward in the transition toward stable democracy contemplated by the earlier announcement that President (Joaquin) Balaguer would shortly turn over the powers of government to the seven-man Council of State headed by Senor (Rafael) Bonelly as president."

Molotov Is Attacked by Red Paper

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda today accuses former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of waging hogmatic and stubborn opposition to Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence.

The attack in the Soviet Communist party newspaper was the first propaganda blast against the old Bolshevik since the Soviet government announced Jan. 8 that he would return to his former post as permanent Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

The blast was so strong that foreign observers in Moscow felt the battle against Molotov and his so-called anti-party group could still be under way.

"Lenin's views on questions of foreign policy," said Pravda, "and above all on problems of war, peace and peaceful coexistence are being distorted not only by bourgeois ideologists but also by people who slip from the living and creative Marxist-Leninist position to the path of dead dogmatism."

"This refers directly to the anti-party group headed by Molotov, Lazarus M. Kaganovich and (former Premier G. M.) Malenkov. As is known, Molotov, in his dogmatic stubbornness, slips down to making statements alleging that Lenin never and at no time spoke about coexistence of states with different social systems."

Molotov, now 71, returned home from Vienna Nov. 12 to fight a move to expel him from the Communist party after Khrushchev had denounced him and other members of the anti-party group once again at the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress. It was generally assumed that Molotov would be expelled from the party and at best would be allowed to live out his days in obscurity.

The announcement that he was returning to Vienna aroused immediate speculation in diplomatic quarters that Khrushchev had suffered a setback.

The Foreign Ministry at first said Molotov already was en route to the Austrian capital. Later that week the ministry said it did not know when he was going back.

The ministry now will not even discuss the matter with Western correspondents. Neither will the headquarters of the Soviet Communist party.

Pravda's article declared peaceful coexistence is absolutely necessary now because a new world war would be suicide.

It praised Khrushchev for having made more than 30 visits to countries in Europe, Asia and America in support of his policy of peaceful coexistence.

Dominican Hit by Bloodshed, Junta Controls

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Pressured by bloody rioting, President Joaquin Balaguer resigned Tuesday night and a new civil-military junta was sworn in to rule this troubled Caribbean island nation.

The junta was installed at the National Palace several hours after air force tank troops fired into a defiant crowd of hundreds in the heart of the capital, killing at least four persons and wounding a score more.

The shooting touched off the most violent rioting in the city in months, and demands mounted for the resignations of Balaguer and his armed forces chief, Air Force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, who had been accused of planning to set up a military dictatorship.

(News dispatches from Santo Domingo were subject to censorship and made no mention of the fate of Gen. Rodriguez Echavarria. However, he told newsmen of the government change and Balaguer's resignation after a long emergency meeting of the State Council, and it was assumed he was still in control of the armed forces.)

The junta—four civilians and three military men—look over the government from the all-civilian seven-man council which had ruled for only 16 days. The council, headed by Balaguer, was installed Jan. 1 to guide the nation for 18 months toward its first free elections after 31 years of iron-fisted rule by the late dictator, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo.

The change in government drew immediate fire from the National Civic Union, the largest anti-Trujillo faction, and leader of the opposition to Balaguer. A spokesman called it a military coup d'etat and said all Civic Union members in government posts would resign. However, associates of one of them, Foreign Minister Antonio Bonilla Ailes, said he had no plans to step out.

Radio Caribe, a government station, said the new junta will rule until Feb. 27, 1963, the date Balaguer had set for an elected government to take over.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman described the situation in the Dominican Republic as fluid and withheld immediate comment. The United States resumed diplomatic ties with the Dominican government after the installation of the State Council.

The junta, to rule without a presiding officer, retained two members of the deposed council—Antonio Imbert and Luis Amiana—Go, prominent businessmen and the only survivors of the band of 12 that plotted Trujillo's assassination last May.

The other members are Maj. Wilfredo Medina Natal, Lt. Col. Neil Rafael Seija and Rear Adm. Enrique Valdez Vilaurra, and two government officials during the Trujillo era, Armando Oscar Pacheco and Humberto Bogaert.

Unconfirmed reports said three members of the old State Council were placed under arrest. They are Rafael Bonelly, lawyer-teacher who had been scheduled to replace Balaguer as head of government; Dr. Nicolas Pichardo, president of the University Professors' Association and a Civic Union member; and Eduardo R. Barrios, second vice president of the council and former president of the Supreme Court.

The weather man isn't the only one that the climate disagrees with.

Text of Editor's Shreveport Speech

SHREVEPORT, La. Jan. 16 — "Since the U.S. Supreme Court decision of Dec. 11 destroying the secrecy of information that citizens give the Bureau of the Census we have the strange picture of American business joining the Communist Party in going underground," Alex. H. Washburn, editor and publisher of the Hope (Ark.) Star, told the Shreveport Advertising Club Tuesday noon in the Captain Shreve Hotel.

"With this ironic difference," he continued, "The Communists went underground because the government is after them — but government advises private businessmen to go underground because the supreme court is after them."

Speaking under the title "Burn Your Files — Business Is Going Underground," the Arkansas editor said the supreme court held Dec. 11 that while the Federal Trade Commission might not touch the Census files it could require a private company to surrender its carbon copies — a decision highly satisfactory to the Anti-Trust Division of the Justice Department, which supported the Trade Commission suit.

"The legal point made by the court Dec. 11," Washburn continued, "was that actual material in the Census Bureau files is privileged and can't be touched — but this privilege doesn't extend to personal or corporate copies."

"The angry director of the Census Bureau, Richard M. Scammon, promptly made public a letter advising companies they aren't legally required to retain copies of what they send to his bureau."

"Burn your files — and let the Trade Commission and Justice Department whistle! Business is going underground!"

But Nobody Knew

"I sprang the Dec. 11 decision in a speech two days later at Texarkana, in which I pointed out the arrogant injustice of a ruling that violates the Fifth Amendment forbidding government from making a man testify against himself — that is, using in whatever form, original or carbon copies, information given the Census Bureau to get him hanged by another federal department."

"There were probably a hundred persons at the Texarkana Kiwanis meeting and as I circulated after the speech I asked how many of them knew about the Dec. 11 court ruling before I publicized it. As far as I could learn not a man in the room knew about it."

"This is America. A literate nation. With a newspaper in practically every home. Yet here was a shocking court decision that broke the government's promise to protect — not prey upon — its own people. But nobody knew about it — not in Texarkana, nor in my own town of Hope, and very probably not in Little Rock or Shreveport either. Yet all of these cities have full leased-wire papers, with upwards of 30,000 words of telegraph news daily."

"What happened?"

"The Washington wire editors grossly mishandled the supreme court report of Dec. 11. The day report received by my evening paper Dec. 11 was devoted exclusively to the court's overturning the Louisiana conviction of the Freedom Riders. The night report to morning papers of Dec. 12, the longer, detailed story, again headlined the Freedom Riders and devoted 90 per cent of its text to them. The Census Bureau decision was brushed off with a short paragraph near the end of the telegraph story."

"The Washington wire editors headlined a race squabble — and all but ignored an ominous judicial advance of governmental tyranny over whites and blacks alike."

"Of course the error of the Washington wire editors was a fault of the times in which we live. Editors, like readers, are a race of headline hunters — but, unlike readers, editors are supposed to dig for vital news. And last Dec. 11 they lost the ball."

"My specific criticism of the Washington wire men is that at the very least they should have filed a separate story, letting the Census Bureau story stand alone for all to see — that the court decision broke faith with the people on the promised secrecy of Census Bureau information. The very essence of this republic is that the people shall be fully informed so they may vote intelligently. But Dec. 11 was the evil day when we newspaper folks fell down on the job. This is a point I shall return to a little later — with a challenging question."

March of Tyranny

"Why do I attach such importance to the Dec. 11 court decision? Because it is merely the latest in a series of tyrannical decisions by a court that has grown — like Adolf Hitler — to believe that the end justifies the means. Twice the court has struck down the constitutional guarantee that a man's house shall be safe against search and seizure except for a search warrant. In the so-called Maryland cockroach-law case the court held that sanitary inspectors could enter property without a search warrant. And the court approved the action of utility inspectors in Dayton, Ohio, when they invaded private premises without a warrant."

"Why the constitutional requirement for a search warrant? You know why. Some citizen has to sign a warrant against you. He has to make himself known. Tear down this protection and you have opened the gate through which you will walk into a police state — that state of tyranny from which our forefathers fled to find freedom in this wilderness."

"Our great danger today is that bureaucrats are writing law without benefit of the congress, and the high court is upholding the bureaucrats against the citizens."

"Events have given an ironic twist to our original government. Today it is the court that writes law by judicial interpretation, and it is the congress that has to pass judgment upon laws it did not write."

"But it is easier for the judges — who are few — to write law, than for the congressmen — who are many — to reverse them."

"I am here before you as a newspaper editor to point out dangerous encroachments against freedom of speech and press by the manipulations of the Internal Revenue Service and its supporting judges. The bureaucrats don't call this censorship. But neither did the Argentine dictator Juan Peron when he destroyed the great Spanish newspaper La Prensa. Peron killed La Prensa by politically organizing its production labor, then its newspaper — distributing system — and finally cutting off its supply of newsprint."

"The device thought up by American bureaucrats is simply this: To control by bureau regulation rather than congressional law what a man can say or do on matters of government without risking loss of expense deductions from income tax."

"My personal story is about an Arkansas tax fight that ran seven years and cost me $18,000. In 1951 I circulated a state-wide petition for a popular vote to stop diversion of Arkansas sales tax money from the schools, and another petition in 1957 to refer a sales tax increase to 3% to the voters. Both petitions were directly connected to my newspaper editorials of many years. But when I sought to deduct my out-of-pocket cost as a business expense the IRS ruled the deductions were invalid because the petitions 'sought to influence legislation.'"

"An American circulating a petition? A newspaper editor influencing legislation? But what else, in the United States?"

"I lost in the Tax Court. I lost in the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, St. Louis. I lost in the U. S. Supreme Court."

"You think my case is unusual? It got national attention. Hundreds of editors over the country organized the Press Committee to Eliminate Censorship by Taxation, with headquarters in Washington, and elected me chairman. I am speaking around the country in the hope of awakening the people and producing remedial action by the congress. Big folks are involved in this issue but also hundreds of small ones like myself. The common threat that joins us is the obvious attempt by the Internal Revenue Service to censor and cut down advertising expenditures — which are the time-honored privilege of the advertiser, and the lifeblood of publications."

Censorship by Taxation

"Argentina did its job through political manipulation of labor and newsprint — in America bureaucrats are trying out the tax axe for heat and edge."

"Here's an example from my committee files:

"The Timken Roller Bearing Co. attacked Communism and inflation in some of its advertisements. The IRS refused to allow the cost of this advertising to be deducted from income tax as 'ordinary and necessary business expense.'"

"This is a far cry from the early days of this century when Henry Ford, Harvey Firestone and many another American spoke and printed what he thought on public issues."

"And here is another example from committee files and the public record:

"The various trade associations and retail merchant organizations throughout America have been warned by the IRS that if they make an appearance for or against legislation in congress or a legislature they run the risk of having their membership dues declared non-deductible for tax purposes."

"At this point let us take a second look at the Dec. 11 court decision on the Census Bureau. The newspapers fell down on the job of reporting it to the public. But newspapers have no more privilege in reporting governmental affairs than individual citizens and businesses. Suppose some sharp-eyed business man, recognizing the newspapers' error of omission, had chosen to bring out the facts of the Census Bureau decision in a paid advertisement. He would have performed a vital public service for this republic."

"And yet the government's tax bureau would most certainly have disallowed the deduction of that advertisement's cost, penalizing a public-spirited American because he dared to speak out against tyranny."

"Behind this bureaucratic threat lies the shadow of the Supreme Court. Do our judges belong to the people, as in a republic they should; or do they belong to the crown, as in the medieval tyrannies of the Old Country? They belong to the crown — as the supreme court discloses daily."

"How did we get this new wilderness refuge of ours into the same jeopardy from which our forefathers fled in the Old Country? Well, these bureaucrats and judges are merely appointed men — appointed by the governmental heads we elect."

"At this point I cease to speak as chairman of the national Press Committee and talk to you as an individual editor. Other committee members will have their own views of course."

"Our federal tyranny stems directly from the people's elections, and it is my personal conviction that the responsible, taxpaying citizens of this country have lost control of elections."

Jefferson's Prophecy

"I am supported in this unhappy judgment by a prophecy that was uttered nearly 200 years ago by that original democrat Thomas Jefferson. On December 20, 1787, Jefferson, writing a letter from Paris, France, to James Madison, said:

"will remain virtuous for many centuries as long as they are chiefly agricultural; and this will be as long as there shall be vacant lands in any part of America. When they get piled upon one another in large cities, as in Europe, they will become corrupt as in Europe."

"And just as Jefferson forecast nearly 200 years ago, America's problem today is that too many citizens are voting money to themselves instead of voting for the good of their country. I outlined my individual solution in a speech at Arkadelphia, Ark., on October 29, 1941."

"I said that 21.1% of the people of my home county of Hempstead, Arkansas, are receiving cash welfare grants or surplus commodities; and, Hempstead being an average county in the state, this 21.1% figure probably holds true for all Arkansas."

"With a fifth of the votes held by those who receive taxes to buy their daily bread, instead of earning their daily bread to pay taxes, it is clear that the taxpayers, whether big or small, have lost control of government."

"Therefore, I told the Arkadelphia audience on October 19, the salvation of state and nation is to strike off the voting lists all those receiving welfare cash or surplus commodities."

"Of this bureaucratically-controlled vote America has been twice warned: By Jefferson 200 years ago; and by Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the old New York World, who dedicated 'this newspaper to fight predatory plutocracy and predatory poverty.'"

"On the 'controlled welfare vote' question I know what I am talking about. In November, 1948, the people of Arkansas voted on the issue of whether or not to sustain an increase in the state sales tax from 2 to 3%, because of a petition I had circulated. Just before the election State Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams sent out with the welfare checks a printed notice warning the recipients if they didn't vote for the tax increase their checks would be reduced."

"I protested this political leverage against the joint state-federal welfare grants in a telegram to Washington — but without effect, of course."

"I lost the 1950 referendum — but naturally. And we'll lose this country of ours unless matters are mended."

U. S. to Keep Trying for Nuclear Ban

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans a determined new effort in the next round of disarmament negotiations to get the Soviet Union to agree to a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests under an international inspection system, officials said today.

The United States will go ahead, meanwhile, with its program of underground test explosions, and the probability is that in the next couple of months President Kennedy will make a final decision to conduct nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Informants said today that the present trend of administration thinking is strongly in favor of atmospheric tests aimed at improving U.S. nuclear weapons performance and developing an anti-missile missile.

The next round of disarmament negotiations is expected to open in Geneva March 14. The date and place are tentative pending approval of the 18 nations which will participate in the conference under U.N. auspices.

Nuclear test ban talks, which opened at Geneva almost three years ago, came to a dead end Tuesday.

However, the United States and Britain stopped just short of making a final break in the negotiations with Moscow. Representatives of the two Western powers told the Soviet delegation their governments were willing to take up the test ban problem as part of general disarmament negotiations.

The State Department put the full blame for the collapse of the nuclear test talk on the Soviet Union.

The Soviet government, the department said in a statement, had categorically rejected "the objective of reaching agreement on a separate nuclear test ban treaty under effective international safeguards."

Furthermore, the department said, the Soviet Union long had insisted "that it will only discuss such an arrangement (a test ban) in the context of general disarmament negotiation."

The nuclear test sessions resumed in Geneva Tuesday after a holiday recess. The United States and Britain immediately made an appeal, the State Department said, for the Soviet Union to agree to engage in "serious negotiation."

This appeal the Russians flatly rejected, the State Department said.

Credit Statements

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Nancy Hall said Tuesday 1,200 credit statements had been filed by her office since Jan. 1, the date of a new state Commercial Code went into effect. Under the code, the office files credit notes from banks, loan agencies, real estate firms and some retail outfits.

State to Step Up Drive on Tuberculosis

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Health Department today announced plans for a stepped-up campaign of tuberculosis detection and out-patient treatment.

Dr. Paul Reagan, director of the Division of Tuberculosis Control, said nursing supervisors from the state's 12 health department districts are meeting today and Wednesday in North Little Rock for a briefing on the new program.

New detection measures will be in two areas, Reagan said. Two mobile X-ray units will be added to the two now in service, and a skin testing program will be broadened.

The new X-ray units will be assigned to specific work with older persons and those who have had known contact with the disease. Skin testing will be expanded to include all first grade children, older persons, and persons with a positive X-ray, Reagan said.

The key treatment phases of the new program will be provision by the state of consulting services to local health clinics and private physicians, and provision of free drugs to tuberculosis patients who can be treated at home.

Reagan said he and two chest specialists to be hired would handle the consultation.

Local health departments will bear part of the cost of the free drugs, he added.

In addition, the state department will begin working more closely with chest clinics already established in Mississippi, Crittenden, Phillips, Ashley, Craighead, Jefferson, Independence, Ouachita, Saline, Clark, Garland, Faul-

Has This Farmer's Wife Lived in Vain?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: When my husband, a widower with a three year old boy, came courting me 18 years ago, I said, "He is my fate!"

It sure was — but not the kind I daydreamed about.

This farmhouse where I came as a bride hasn't had a thing done to it since the day it was built more than 50 years ago. I bore our four children in a drafty bedroom warmed by a grate fire. I took for the farm-hands on a coal stove; I carry water from a well.

No matter what improvements I plead for, the farm comes first. When I wanted a china closet to put my wedding dishes in, my husband said, "I am saving for a new silo." We need a modern bathroom badly. Every time I mention it, my husband comes up with something else the farm is crying for like a new tractor, thrashing machine, cow barn, or fences, and so it has been all my married life.

The tears I have shed! I gave my stepson all the love and training a mother would and more, taking from my own children to get him through school and off to the big city where he could find a well paying job. Instead of a job, he came back with a wife, but I didn't kick. All the thanks I got was him siding with his father against me.

Last week our 12 year old son wanted to finish tractor driving in a 4H contest. My husband knowingly drove off in our only car leaving me with no transportation to get the poor kid there. Our 14-year-old girl needed pedal-pumpers and a suitcase to go to a church camp meeting for young folks. My husband refused to buy them, so the church took pity on her and got the things, yet he is financially able to support us all.

ner and Putaski Counties. "Until now," Reagan said, "a person who had tuberculosis and who lacked the means for private care had only one choice. "He had to go to one of the two state sanatoriums. "Now we hope we can reduce the economic impact of the disease by expanding home treatment so that patient can stay at home, the job unless he has an infectious case."

Reagan said the tuberculosis death rates had been substantially reduced but even modern methods of treatment require six months' hospitalization in infectious cases.

very well.

Today he blamed me for a disagreement he and his brother are having because his mother dead-ly him the old farm. I stood up for my rights and he knocked me down. What is left for me? Have I lived these 18 years in vain? —Farmer's Wife

Dear Farmer's Wife: To solve a problem, we must first know what it is. Warring husbands and wives battle on, rarely understanding the real cause of their conflict. In your case I believe it is the variation of the triangle theme but instead of another woman, the farm holds your husband's heart. By siding with his brother, you pose a further threat to his love.

Being gentle and inexperienced when you married, you were unable to cope with such a situation so to gain the security you lacked, you spoiled your stepson and were miserable yourself.

But having lived with your husband 18 years and borne him four children, you should do everything within reason to save your marriage.

Begin by loving your farm. Share your husband's longing to provide it with the best. Make it your responsibility as well as his. Subscribe to farm magazines and seed catalogues. Write the Department of Agriculture for the latest information on crops, soil conservation and farm machinery. Get your son to help you by passing along what he learns through the 4H club. Once you become an authority on farming, you will automatically take your place by your husband's side as his partner, not drudge. Look upon the hard years which are passed as a conditioning for the good life which can now be yours, provided you make the effort.

Dear Helen: I was 13 in December but my parents still refuse to let me date the boy who comes first in my heart. He is 21, upstanding and destined for big things. Not willing to be underhanded, we have gone together to my folks to ask if we might go out. The answer is always no. Now he is leaving for the far West where a good job awaits him. He says he loves me and, if I wish, will send the money for me to join him. Should I go? —R.

Dear R.S.: Being of age, you reduced but even modern methods of treatment require six months' hospitalization in infectious cases. Your parents' peace of mind, make sure that this boy is really

Mills' Group Handles All Big Proposals

Arkansans in Washington By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Kennedy outlined to Congress recently the legislative proposals he hopes to have enacted this year, he could have been directing many of his remarks at Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

This is because the bulk of Kennedy's major legislative proposals will be referred to and handled by the powerful House Ways and Means committee headed by Mills.

For example, these are some of the presidential proposals which will be handled by Mills' committee: Tax revision and closing of loopholes; authority for the President to cut income taxes under certain circumstances; medical care for the aged under social security; revision of social security; new trade program giving the President authority to cut tariffs up to 50 per cent; extension of excise and corporation tax rates and reforms in the public welfare program.

These, together with proposals for federal aid to education, foreign aid, civil rights and for purchase of U.N. bonds probably will be the controversial proposals to come before Congress during the year.

Mills said a check of legislation enacted every year would show that more of the bills come from his committee than from any other.

It just happens this year that there is much public interest focused on some of the important measures his group must handle.

Mills' importance in congressional matters is shown by the fact that the first week he was in Washington after a few months spent in his district, two cabinet officers called on him and he was invited to the White House for breakfast with the President.

Calling at his office were Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and Abraham Ribicoff, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Mills is reluctant about his conversation with Kennedy at the breakfast but it is obvious the President filled him in on what he planned to say in his state of the union message.

On the proposal for medical care for the aged Mills likely was unable to give the President much hope since the Ways and Means committee turned down the idea two years ago and instead approved the ill-kerr bill.

Mills said his committee will first take up legislation for tax revision and closing some tax loopholes. Then, he said the committee wants to consider reforms in welfare laws to correct current abuses.

Next on the list will be the controversial trade revision program. It all adds up to a heavy work schedule.

Arkansas friends of U.S. District Judge John E. Miller remain hopeful of persuading the administration to name Miller to a vacancy on the U.S. circuit court of appeals despite his age.

The Justice Department has objected to Miller, who is over 70, because of his age.

Arkansans say Miller's age shouldn't be regarded as a factor since he already is a federal judge and, in effect, would be merely moving from one post to another. The age limitation might apply on new appointments, they contend, but should be waived on what amounts to transfers.

Wanted in Robbery

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Ira Coleman Roberts, 60, wanted on a charge of armed robbery in Cairo, Ill., was arrested here Monday by FBI agents. He is charged with taking $1,700 at gunpoint from Claude Cartwright at the Cairo Hotel Nov. 20.

Circus Has Fallen Upon Hard Times

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—That great institution, the circus, in recent years has fallen upon hard times. Other forms of entertainment, including broadcasts, reached parts of the country that once depended upon an occasional visit of the traveling tent shows.

But now, in the measured opinion of Emmett Kelly, probably the nation's most famous clown television is reviving interest in the big shows.

Kelly, whose "Weary Willie" character has delighted cotton-chambering crowds for two generations, said that around 1950 he felt the circus had really "started to go." Crowds were no longer turning out, circuses were combining and sometimes not even leaving winter quarters.

"But now things seem to be picking up," he continued. "People seem to want to go to the circus again. And I think TV is completely responsible — particularly because the children are interested."

Kelly will be narrator Sunday night of a Project 20 documentary showing behind-the-scenes circus life on NBC's "Show of the Week."

ABC will follow NBC's lead by running full length feature films regularly in prime time. Starting April 8, the network will put old movies with big star names in a two-hour spot on the Sunday evening schedule. There are reports that the plan will dislodge "Bus Stop" and "Adventures in Paradise," neither of which have been getting good audience ratings.

NBC's Saturday night movies—two hours of old films—have done fairly well, but their popularity seems to rise and fall with the quality of the movie and the size of the movie-star names involved.

ABC's decision to go ahead on Jan. 23 with the taped comedy special made by Ernie Kovacs shortly before his death could be a mistake in view of the tragic circumstances. It will be difficult for viewers to catch the spirit of his comedy. It may be a pretty morbid half hour.

Yerger Betty Crocker Winner

Miss Shirley Ann Bostie is winner in the Yerger School 1962 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. She achieved the highest score in the examination on home making knowledge and attitudes taken by senior girls Dec. 5. She is eligible to compete for the title of State Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The girl named State Homemaker of Tomorrow is provided a $1,500 scholarship by General Mills, sponsor of the program. The state runnerup will receive a $500 scholarship.

In addition, the State Homemaker and her school advisor will join with other state winners in an expense paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va. At the latter, the 1962 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named.

The national winner will have a $5,000 scholarship, with second, third and fourth place winners being granted scholarships of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

Coming and Going

Cleonia Washington, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Washington, returned to Little Rock on Jan. 9, where she will resume her studies at Philander Smith College.

Wilkie Evans has returned home from Toledo, Ohio where she spent a few days visiting wife's parents Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Cooper.

Bland Silent About Firing ESD Workers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — J. L. Bland, state employment security division administrator, said today that no statement would be made about a Federal Civil Service Commission recommendation that he fire three employees until Gov. Orval E. Faubus returns to the capitol.

Bland said he had discussed the matter with Faubus by telephone and "we agreed to say nothing until he (Faubus) returns."

Faubus is on a brief holiday at Huntsville.

He is expected back in his office Wednesday.

The Civil Service Commission recommended Monday that Luke Arnett, William Watkins, and Charles F. Wood, all ESD employees, be discharged for violating the Hatch Act by soliciting political contributions for Faubus' 1960 campaign.

Watkins already has announced that he is retiring Feb. 1. Arnett and Wood have made no statement.

Africans Draft Plan for Angola

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African delegates sought today to draft a U.N. demand for Angola's independence acceptable to the major Western powers.

"It doesn't matter much whether the resolution is a strong one calling for punitive steps against Portugal or a mild one limiting itself to condemnation," said a veteran African delegate. "The only way to get the Portuguese out of Angola is to drive them out the way India drove them out of Goa."

Most African delegates acknowledged, however, that force was out of the question at present and that even a call for economic penalties against the Lisbon government—as the Soviet bloc is demanding—would fall flat. They said the North Atlantic Alliance would hardly impose sanctions on one of its members.

The 50-nation Asian-African group is expected to come up with a proposal before the end of the week omitting any reference to penalties. The resolution will condemn Portugal for alleged terrorism in Angola and reaffirm Angola's right to determine its own political future.

Such a resolution is expected to win support from the United States, which reportedly believes too harsh a proposal might drive Portugal still farther into isolation.

Smallpox Under Control in London

LONDON (AP) — The smallpox outbreak in England's industrial north is under control, health officer John Douglas of Bradford said today.

Douglas, whose Yorkshire textile town is the center of the scare, said 100,000 people living in the area have been vaccinated. More vaccine was hurried to Bradford as a precaution.

The disease was brought into Britain last month by immigrants from Pakistan, where an epidemic is raging. Five deaths have been attributed to smallpox in Britain and a sixth may have been due to the disease. A number of suspected cases are under observation in isolated hospitals.

Official Now, They're Equal

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's official now. The House and the Senate are equal branches of Congress and from now on will share top billing in the official Congressional Record.

No longer will the official proceedings of the so-called "upper body" appear first in the record, to be followed by a recital of what happened in the House.

At the instigation of Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, new speaker of the House, the Government Printing Office has agreed to rotate first billing between the Senate and the House.

Jackson Paper Quits Publishing

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Jackson State Times, an afternoon newspaper, announced today it would end publication with today's editions.

R. E. Dumas Milner, president of the State Times Publishing Corp., said at a news conference he had made the decision because of a continued decrease in advertising.

He said equipment of the paper, which began publication Feb. 28, 1955, would be sold to the Mississippi Publishers Corp., which publishes the rival Jackson Daily News and Morning Clarion-Ledger.

About 105 full-time and 7 part-time employees were affected. Milner said they would be given severance pay of two weeks to one month.

The Road to the Snail

by WILLIAM P. MCGIVERN

Chapter XXI

In the second week of September Dennis came hurrying up to my villa. His hair was combed, his face was shaven, and he wore a tie, flannel slacks and his blue blazer.

"Sit down and have some coffee," I said.

"No, there's no time. I want you to do me a favor. You must come to Malaga with me."

"What for?"

"It's the most preposterous thing. Do you know anyone named Pye Littlejohn? One of your Embassy people in Madrid?"

"Pye Littlejohn?" I shook my head. "I'd remember that name, I'm sure. But it doesn't register."

"Well, he rang me up last night. He's staying at the Palace in Malaga. He wants to see me."

"What for?"

"He was terribly vague," Dennis said, pacing about restlessly. "Clock and dagger-ish. I think he was trying to disguise his voice. It sounded as if he had potatoes in his mouth. He said 'you-all' instead of 'you' and 'cain't' for 'can't'—that sort of thing—'hang, as he'd say. Must have been afraid the line was tapped."

"Why do you want me to come with you?"

"Well, I'm a British subject," he said. "I've no notion how your people go about things. I was hoping you'd interpret for me."

And so we drove to Malaga and called on the American embassy. Pye Littlejohn was comfortably quartered in a suite on the third floor of the Palace hotel.

Pye Littlejohn was a large jovial man with a friendly looking bald head and eyes that were curiously like Dennis' — bright and kind and trusting.

Littlejohn rubbed his plump hands together briskly. "Either of you gentlemen care for a little nip before we get started?"

Dennis looked dubious. "It seems a bit early."

"No," Littlejohn checked his watch. "It's 11. He strode across the room to a large, stoutly-made wooden box, which rested on rubber-tired wheels. "Know what I call this? My portable potables!"

The words were turned into twins by his soft slurring accent, and came out "pot-ble pot-bles." Raising the lid of the box he smiled and said, "Yes, sir, pot-ble pot-bles."

It was an impressive sight; there were all kinds of whiskey, gin, brandy, vermouth and rum. "You just name it," Littlejohn said, watching our reactions with a pleased smile. "How about some mild mint juleps?"

"A bit formidable, I'm afraid," Dennis said.

Littlejohn waved his protests aside. "Northern heresy."

We watched in silence as Littlejohn went carefully to work building three authentic mint juleps. The Fresh mint came from France, he told us; it was flown in to him regularly in Madrid.

We assured him they were perfect, and he beamed at us gratefully.

"Well, in that case, we can get on down to work," he said "First off, let me tell you about me. I'm an officer at the embassy in Madrid, assigned to IAS—that's Internal Affairs Spain. My job is to see that the Spaniards understand what we're doing over here. We move a lot quicker than they do, and sometimes I've got to explain about that. We figure, speaking broadly, that mistakes are a good thing if they're made in the right spirit. No that's not quite it. What I mean is, it's better to do something than nothing. Just sitting tight isn't the best course after all."

Littlejohn unzipped a briefcase and removed a magazine which he placed reverently on the table before us. "There she is!" he said, watching our expressions.

"The magazine was America the Beautiful."

"Go on, look at it," Littlejohn said.

Texarkanian U. S. Attorney

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced today the appointment of Charles M. Conway, 36, of Texarkana as U.S. attorney for the western district of Arkansas.

Conway succeeds Charles W. Atkinson in the $14,700 a year position. The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Cincinnati, Bowling Green Keep Winning

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The unbeatable "second wind" that separates the good basketball teams from the ordinary has kept Cincinnati's Bearcats and Bowling Green's eighth-ranked Falcons also got hot late as they belted down Kent State 68-56, Bowling Green nailed 16 of 28 in the second half on the visitors court, and now lead the Mid-America Conference with a 5-0 record.

Cincinnati ranked third, hit 18 of 30 field goal attempts in the second half en route to a solid 69-61 victory over Dayton at Cincinnati. Bowling Green's eighth-ranked Falcons also got hot late as they belted down Kent State 68-56, Bowling Green nailed 16 of 28 in the second half on the visitors court, and now lead the Mid-America Conference with a 5-0 record.

The paucity of games continues tonight, with 10th-ranked Mississippi State the only top team in action. The Maroons take on Alabama in a reschedule of a game postponed because of snow last week.

Cincinnati ranked third, hit 18 of 30 field goal attempts in the second half en route to a solid 69-61 victory over Dayton at Cincinnati. Bowling Green's eighth-ranked Falcons also got hot late as they belted down Kent State 68-56, Bowling Green nailed 16 of 28 in the second half on the visitors court, and now lead the Mid-America Conference with a 5-0 record.

Cincy, now 12-2, trailed 33-26 at halftime after a miserable 9-for-32 first-half shooting performance. A 16-2 spurt at the start of the second half sent Dayton (10-4) feeling. Paul Hogue led the Bearcats with 21 points before fouling out and Bill Chmielewski tossed in 17 for the losers.

Notre Dame snipped out of the doldrums with an 86-40 upset of DePaul but Syracuse continued its winless (0-13) ways, losing 66-70 to Cornell, which raised its record to 11-2 behind Gerry Szachara's 26 points. Soph Carl Vernick topped all scorers with 39 points for Syracuse.

Elsewhere, Bob Duffy hit 22 points but Penn State won over Colgate 60-65 behind Gene Harris' 24; Bruce Kelleher and Bill Stalusis each tallied 20 in Maryland's 81-67 victory over George Washington. Virginia Military defeated William & Mary in a Southern Conference game, 75-71 as Bill Blair led the winners with 27.

Los Angeles Loyola beat Pepperdine 64-54 in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Henderson Remains in AIC Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas State Teachers and Henderson remain neck-and-neck in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball race as both carried Tuesday night victories. In a non-conference game, Southern State fell to East Texas 76-53. Teachers, paced by Howard Lamb's 21-point output, romped over a hapless Harding squad 77-49 while Henderson beat Arkansas College 67-59.

ASTC overcame an early 4 to 2 deficit and took a commanding 39-24 halftime lead. The Bears allowed Henderson only seven field goals and one free throw in the final half.

And at Arkadelphia, Henderson rallied behind Jimmy Reppo, Hank Holt and Sam Barker to beat the Highlanders.

Reppo led the Henderson attack with 17 points while Birdie Rogers paced Arkansas College with 14. Both Henderson and ASTC enjoy 6-1 AIC cards while the Teachers hold a 12-2 season's mark. Henderson is 7-0 overall.

Only one AIC match is scheduled for tonight, with Arkansas College taking on third place Ouachita at Arkadelphia.

Fishing Not Good
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission reports fishing in all lakes poor due to adverse weather.

Says Liston Next for Patterson

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports, told intimates a month ago that heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson would sign a contract the latter part of this month to meet No. 1 contender Sonny Liston, a boxing source said today.

The source, who did not want to be identified by name, said the proposed title bout probably would be held in New York no later than June.

According to the source, Patterson promised Liston a shot at the title last October through Bolan but never made a public announcement. In recent weeks Patterson reaffirmed that he would fight Liston with Championship Sports promoting, the source said.

In Philadelphia, George Katz, Liston's manager, declined comment on the matter.

Bob Petit Best in the All-Pro Game

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The West holds an edge in top talent with the likes of Oscar Robertson, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West and with youth on its side, soon may catch the East in the National Basketball Association All-Star game series.

That's the opinion of Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, who coached the West in its convincing 130-120 victory over the veteran East stars in the 12th annual game before 15,112 here on Tuesday night. The East still leads the series 7-5.

"Understand, I'm talking about individuals, not teams," Schaus said. "You have to concede the Boston Celtics still are the best team in basketball."

Bob Petit, 3-year veteran of the St. Louis Hawks, won the game's most valuable player trophy with a record 27 rebounds. Bill Chamberlain, the 7-1 Philadelphia who holds a 49-point scoring average, set an NBA All-Star scoring record with 42 points.

Yet most observers felt the cat-like Robertson was the difference with his smooth play making and 14-point third-quarter burst that put the West out of reach.

"Oscar got us running again in the third quarter and that broke open the game," Schaus said. "But I won't argue that Pettit deserved the MVP award. Anytime a man gets 27 rebounds over the head of Bill Chamberlain (of Boston), you have to hand it to him."

Petit had 27 votes from writers, Robertson 11 and Taylor 5. Baylor, playing on an Army pass from Ft. Lewis, Wash., after a two-week layoff, led the West with 32 points. He admitted "I was tired and a little out of shape." Robertson had 26 points and Pettit 25.

Baxter's Red Auerbach, coaching the East for the 6th straight year, thought Cincinnati's Jack Twyman "really killed us" with nine third-quarter points. The West won last year 152-131.

Lawmaker Shot

ASH FLAT, Ark. (AP) — William Horace Martin, 61, former Sharpe County representative and prominent Ash Flat merchant, was found shot to death at his store here Tuesday. Coroner Wylie Croom said Martin died from a gunshot wound but the coroner's report was not completed. Croom said the shooting could have been an accident and an investigation would continue.

Arkansas Is Tops in MV Conference

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference is loaded with big name basketball stars, but for the moment the scoring lead belongs to a guitar-strumming Arkansan on a mediocre Tulsa team.

James King, a 6-foot-2-inch junior at the University of Tulsa leads such hot-shots as Bradley's Chet (The Jet) Walker and Cincinnati's Paul Hogue in conference scoring. He has 73 points in league games, a 24.3 average, to 71 and a 23.7 average for Walker.

Walker is ahead in scoring by counting non-league games with 311 points, but King is second with 273.

"If he were six inches taller he'd be another Oscar Robertson," says Tulsa coach Joe Swank, who first spotted King on a Fort Smith, Ark., high school contingent which included Tommy Boyer and Larry Wofford of the University of Arkansas.

"I don't think there is a guard in America who can do as many things," Swank adds. King has pulled in an average of 7.9 rebounds a game to lead Tulsa. He's also a cat-quick ball stealer, a play-maker and the sparkplug who leads the rallies.

Against St. Louis University last week, King pumped in 36 points, high for the valley so far this season.

Yet, King wasn't a natural basketball player. He didn't make the starting team at Fort Smith until his senior year. Even then college scouts largely bypassed him until he scored 20 points in the Arkansas all-state game.

But then King had decided to come to Tulsa, which had offered him a scholarship despite a scholastic record which had scared off some other big-time schools.

King attributes much of his progress to jumping with weights on his feet, which he said gives him the spring to outleap many 6-8 opponents. Now he says, "It's no real trouble to dunk the ball." With many schools King would be hoisted as an All-American prospect. But Tulsa, with a losing 3-1 record, isn't a team to bring much national recognition.

He has recognition in Tulsa, though. Fans roar when his name is called and howl with delight when he starts his ball-stealing antics or pumps in long one-handers.

King is popular with his teammates, who look to him as the leader. And he still relaxes with guitar-strumming sessions in his room. During summers, King works as a barber in Fort Smith.

And he's still friends at home with Boyer and Wofford, the former teammates he'll see next week when Arkansas plays here.

Of that contest, King says, "I don't think I'll have any trouble getting keyed up for that game."

Tucker Was the Wonder Boy at Tech

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In his Arkansas Tech football days, he was probably called the Wonder Boys' Tucker.

Later his team called Tucker's Wonder Boys.

Something of a wonder boy himself, John E. Tucker played on the first team Arkansas Tech fielded by that name and later returned to coach it to a record of 77 victories, 18 losses and eight ties.

This, and a long string of other accomplishments, has earned him a niche in the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame. He will be inducted at the annual banquet here Thursday night.

Tucker, head coach, professor of chemistry, athletic director, and dean of men at Arkansas Tech during his years of service there, was born in Russellville in 1901.

He played three years of sparkling high school football there, making a name for himself with his open field running and his outstanding ability as a drop kicker. He played on the original Wonder boy team of Arkansas Tech from 1920 to 1924, making All-Conference three years. During this time he made 60 touchdowns, 92 extra points and three field goals for a total of 461 points.

Once, when his conversion holder bobbed a bad snap from center, Tucker picked up the ball and drop-kicked a point that meant a tie with Henderson-Brown.

In 1929, at the age of 28, Tucker went to the University of Alabama and played two years of varsity ball. Those two years the Tide went 2-0 and won in the 1931 Rose Bowl game.

Turning down several opportunities to teach, Tucker came back to Tech in 1932 with a master's degree in chemistry and promptly became head coach, head of the chemistry department and dean of men. He held these three titles until 1947.

Among the highlights of an athletic and academic career that have led him to the Hall of Fame are three state championships and two co-championships held by the two co-championships held by the Tech Wonder Boys.

Now 60, Tucker was added to National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame.

Of the five men to be inducted into the Arkansas Hall of Fame Thursday night, only one other gained his fame in football, Carey

Little Loop Basketball Schedule

Teams listed first, will play first game on that date.

This league is for boys in the 5th, 6th and 7th grades, provided the boy has not reached his 14th birthday at the start of the season. The teams have not been completely filled so far, with only practice sessions and no league games having been played at this date.

Any boy desiring to play, should be at Jones Field House Saturday morning.

Spring Hill Advances at Saratoga

In the Saratoga tournament play last night the Spring Hill boys advanced as expected with a 41 to 16 victory over Central. The Emmet boys had little trouble with Cale, racking up a 37-24 victory.

Fouled girls ousted Guernsey 30 to 18 while the Garland girls forfeited to Central.

Tonight the Bradley girls play Murfreesboro at 5 p.m.; Bradley boys play Guernsey at 6 p.m. at 7:15 the Lanesburg and Saratoga girls meet and at 8:30 the Murfreesboro boys meet Fouke.

Yerger Drops 2 of 3 at Arkadelphia

Yerger teams journeyed to Arkadelphia last night but came home with only one win in three games.

The Junior boys teams of the two schools played the opening contest and Peake's boys came out on top 17 to 7. George Davis made five of Yerger's 7 points.

Hope's senior girls fought hard to take a 12 to 10 victory with Conlay's scoring in 10 points and Daniels' two.

The Yerger boys were never really in the game and lost by a lopsided 70 to 27 score. Noble was Yerger's highest with 10 and Huntley made six.

Solph. Others to be inducted are Ray Winder, Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe and Rube Robinson.
